For the sake of clarity, Commun does not have control over the CyberWay Blockchain. It is built using smart contracts executed by CyberWay Blockchain. CyberWay is a third-party permissionless platform based on the distributed ledger technology (blockchain). It has its own peculiarities regarding the recording, processing, and storing personal information. For more information regarding the CyberWay Blockchain, please visit its website at <https://cyberway.io/>.

While the CyberWay Blockchain is not controlled by Commun, Commun is capable of limiting the ability of users to see certain information stored on the CyberWay Blockchain (e.g., sensitive content) on <https://commun.com>. Commun can ban certain users from accessing the Platform or some of its communities. Please, read our Whitepaper for more information.
